

Pre-information for the new international SySt® training

SySt® International will be a 4-year-training with a total of 94 days. 20 days out of these 94 days are colloquium days, which you have to pass. And you can choose to do up to 24 skype meetings (4 hours each plus preparation). Each skype meeting counts for one seminar day, meaning you need a minimum of 70 face-to-face training days including 20 days of colloquium.

The Skype meetings will start in winter 2017 and those who register for the training will get all the information needed in autumn.

SySt® International accredited trainers are Insa Sparrer, Matthias Varga von Kibéd and Elisabeth Ferrari. For each level, i.e. for Advanced Practitioner (SySt®), for Bachelor (SySt®) and for Licentiate (SySt®), you need 10 days with Insa Sparrer and/or Matthias Varga von Kibéd, which means 30 days minimum for the whole training.

If you want to be part of the training, you can sign a training contract or collect seminar attendance certificates and sign the training contract later.

There are three levels:

- The first level will last 40 days. It contains 10 days of colloquium and 30 face-to-face training days, from which 8 can be replaced by Skype meetings. After that you will receive the Advanced Practitioner (SySt®) Certificate.
- Having registered to the first level, after 20 days (15 face-to-face training days and 5 days of colloquium) you can get the Practitioner (SySt®) Certificate.
- The second level will consist of 25 days, with 5 colloquium days and 20 days with face-to-face training, from which 8 can be replaced by Skype meetings. This level will finish with the Bachelor (SySt®) certificate.
- The third level is 29 days including 5 days of colloquium. 8 days of the 24 face-to-face training days can be replaced by Skype meetings. This level completes with the Licentiate (SySt®) certificate.

To complete the curriculum with a thesis and a further title preparations are underway.

The certificates will be issued by the SySt® institute.

It is possible, to take part in level 1 only, level 1 and 2 or in all three levels of the training.

The training language will be English with translation into the local language, depending on where the seminar takes place.

The brochure with all the informations including the learning material, which is relevant for the 4 years, will be communicated until the end of the year 2017.

Fee

There are the seminar conditions for the trainings in Aachen resp. Cologne:

For participants from Latin America, Africa, Asia and Australia the Sparrer&Varga Foundation will pick up the fee for the seminar in the context of supporting international education.

For participants from Europe each day of training or colloquium will cost 125 € incl. VAT.

For a limited number of participants from Europe there is a possibility to apply for a scholarship as well if you can't afford the fee.

The costs for lodging and conference rate (space rental, beverages, meals) has to be paid by the participants. The costs for lodging and conference rate in 2018 will be in Aachen between 600 and 800 Euro for the training and between 300 and 400 Euro for the colloquium. In Cologne between 700 and 840 Euro for the training and between 310 and 420 Euro for the colloquium - depending whether you want to stay in a single, double or shared room with 3 or 4 person. Arrival at the day before the training/colloquium and departure at the day after the training/colloquium are included in costs.

In Aachen there are enough rooms for up to 50 participants at the hostel, in Cologne half of the participants can stay at the venue. As we will be in the center of Cologne, there will be enough hotels and Airbnb rooms nearby. The daily conference rate will be in Aachen 38 Euro and in Cologne 44 Euro per day for those, who don't stay at the venue.
